

A person with dark hair and glasses, wearing a grey t-shirt, is seen from the side, focused on drawing a portrait on a piece of white paper. The paper is taped to a wooden surface, likely a table or easel. The drawing is a sketch of a person's face and upper torso, rendered in light blue and green tones. The person is holding a black pen or pencil, actively working on the drawing. The background is blurred, showing other people in a room, suggesting a workshop or classroom setting.
